Hi David, I'm working as hard as I can to help leadership find a way out of this vote & save John. I can see I'm collateral damage in pre-existing factional & relationship issues & that many who'd like to support me on principle feel conflicted due to that. I'm so sorry for my lack of wisdom that has contributed to this mess. But these allegations are false, & they'll ruin my husband's career & hang over my children forever. You don't need to answer, but I'm just begging you not to support these allegations because they aren't true. Take care, Moira

Keep at it Moira. I am praying for a sensible way forward here. David.

Thank you. Neil Angus is trying to broker a meeting. I'm trying to get some neutral support. I appreciate your efforts, truly

Shit thanks for the reminder. I had a missed call from him and haven't called him back yet. I'll call him now.

Thank you for what you said today & for guiding me to a compromise. I really appreciate it. I felt completely confused.

Hi David, just one last thank you before I take a week holiday with the kids. Thank you for speaking up in the party room & for being so incredibly patient with me when I was so tired and angry I couldn't even think straight. I honestly appreciate it & am honestly so sorry it turned into such a mess. Andrew sends his thanks too. Hope you get to enjoy the Easter break with your family :)

Thanks Moira. You are a colleague and a member of the team and worth investing time in getting the team working together. Enjoy the time with your Family and please call if you need to. Take care, David.
