"My government takes all such matters - all matters of workplace safety very, very seriously. Everyone should feel safe in their workplace, wherever that is. Reports today are deeply distressing. This matter is under consideration by police. At all times, guidance was sought from Ms Higgins as to how she wished to proceed. And to support and respect her decisions. This important best practice principle of empowering Miss Higgins is something the government always sought to follow in relation to this matter. The government has aimed to provide miss Higgins with her agency, to provide support to make decisions in her interests and to respect her privacy. This offer of support and assistance continues. It is important that Ms Higgins's views are listened to and respected and I table for the purposes of the House a statement issued by government spokesperson today on these matters."

Senate question time going on now too

Sure thing, i'll get that clip and transcript for you now

Sam Maiden also asked Greg Hunt about it in his vaccine presser earlier too

And Kristina Keneally spoke on it earlier today in a doorstep at parli house.
