Career summary

John is the Managing Partner of Deloitte in Queensland and a member of the Deloitte National Board of Partners.

John has over 36 years experience in his practice area of corporate restructuring and insolvency. His skills and expertise centres around the rapid development and implementation of turnaround and restructuring plans and solvency advice to boards, executive management, financiers and other key stakeholders.

John's experience spans a broad range of industry sectors across the country. Many of the assignments that John has led involve an independent business review from which a recommended strategy is developed. This can involve the divestment of businesses, in whole or part, and/or financial restructuring by means of the successful recapitalisation of the enterprise.

John has also undertaken numerous complex corporate insolvency engagements including voluntary administrations, receiverships and liquidations. This involves the development of strategies the objective of which is to maximise the outcome to key creditor and other stakeholders.
