 2/ The second has emerged from the remnants of the anti-r/XX, anti-lockdown/ #freedom movement which -- like 'Reclaim Australia' before it -- similarly proclaims its intention to protect children from Them.

 6/ The fuel for this particular, slightly wonky machine is almost invariably publicity. Hence, the more outrageous/sensational/stupid the claims, the better it feeds (insatiable) tabloid appetites.

Andy Fleming @slackbastard · Mar 17, 2023
 3/ While the targets may have changed, the resemblance to Reclaim -- commitments to protecting The Children & preserving The Social Order battle for space with cries of wounded innocence -- is more than incidental. Just under 8 years ago ...

Reclaim Australia organisers have released a public statement on Reclaim Australia, United Patriots Front, Sherman (sic) Burgess & Co.
 "Reclaim Australia Rally - Australia wide
 We have all been distressed over the events of the past few weeks. However, we trust that you can know the truth when you hear it and do what is right for all concerned.
 It is undeniable that the Great Aussie Patriot has been a strong spokesman for Reclaim Rallies and we respect his move to form his own group--the United Patriots Front. However we need to clear up a couple of things with you.
 Sherman never owned Reclaim. Yes, his name does appear on a NSW Business Name registration that was never used by Reclaim. None of our business was ever conducted under that ABN, nor any bank accounts opened under it. He simply put his name up to protect others.
 Secondly, we stand by Melbourne's times of 11.00am. It was always going to be 11.00am. The rally point given to the police was somehow leaked to Sherman, who then broadcasted Reclaim's rally point with UPP's 1.00pm rally start.
 Our Melbourne page has always maintained they would only release details two weeks out. Now our page is copping flack for it and that is just not fair. As the organisers behind Reclaim we strongly urge you to be at the rally in Melbourne starting at 11.00am.

 7/ Anyway, @transgirl1 has announced that it will be holding a counter-protest in Carlton Gardens (around the corner from Parliament) @ 11:15am while @TransQueerSoul is gonna be @ the steps at 11am.

 PS. Sherman Burgess of defunct gpa/networks Australian Defence League/Reclaim Australia/United Patriots Front is now a Muslim (but retains his reactionary views).

(Also, what is it w middle-class Little Englanders & hyphenated surnames?)

One prominent TERF has also connected with extremist movements overseas to support reactionary movements seemingly unrelated to her anti-trans agenda. Another one, that she once spoke by, recently traveled to Norway for a conference where she stood with far-right Hungarian politician, Hebesztes Istvan, and Islamophobe Hans Ljungström Johansen.

Additionally, Parker has repeatedly expressed support for far-right anti-Muslim activist Stephen Yaxley-Lennon, also known as Tommy Robinson. Robinson, another former Tucker Carlson Tenight guest, has also expressed anti-trans views in a video for far-right media outlet The Rebel.

 PPP. The success of the US far-right in utilizing transphobia to mobilise remains unrealised as yet in AUS, but attempts to do the groundwork are certainly being made.

Neo-Nazis and trans rights protesters clash in Melbourne; bushfire alert for parts of Great Ocean Road - as it happened

18 Mar 2023 16:23 AEDT

Labor MP criticises 'ugly alliance between anti-trans bullies and neo-Nazis'

The clash between transgender rights protesters and neo-Nazis in Melbourne occurred in response to the Let Women Speak event held in the city today.

The event was hosted by the controversial British anti-trans rights figure Kellie-Jay Keen who is currently touring Australia.

The federal Labor MP Josh Burns called for "tougher laws" to be considered after black-clad marchers made Nazi salutes in front of Parliament House.

The ugly alliance between anti-trans bullies and neo-Nazis on display in the city today was extremely confronting.

Both groups seek to bully and blame minority groups in their dark ideology. Scapegoating minorities is their business model, and it has no place in Australia.

The brazen marching with neo-Nazi salutes in front of the Victorian Parliament is unacceptable. This is a time for us to consider whether tougher laws are needed.

The protest in Melbourne came after Keen's events in Sydney and Adelaide this week were met with clashes between anti- and pro-trans rights activists. Keen is due to travel to Hobart on Tuesday and Canberra on Thursday before heading to New Zealand.

In January, the Greens MP Stephen Bates wrote to Australia's immigration minister asking him to revoke Keen's visa. Bates wrote on Twitter at the time:

Today, I wrote to the Immigration Minister and called on him to revoke the visa of a prominent transphobe who poses a significant risk to members of the trans and gender diverse community of Australia.

There's no place for hate speech in this country. I won't be sharing their name because I don't want to amplify their hate speech. The Immigration Minister has the power to revoke his Government's decision to allow this individual to spread hateful views within our community.

Joint Statement on neo-Nazi incident

Today's incident on the steps Parliament House is an affront to every Victorian who values our inclusive, tolerant and multicultural community.

The behaviours today by neo-Nazis are a deliberate attempt to incite hatred and violence and are nothing short of sickening.

These shameful individuals and the hateful ideology they push have no place in our state and must never be tolerated.

Victoria is better than this.

The Victorian Liberals and Nationals continue to support the frontline officers Victoria Police, who continue to focus on community safety in frequently dangerous and complex situations.

The Andrews Labor Government must join with the Liberals and Nationals to ensure Victoria Police have the powers, resources and training to stamp out these shocking acts of hate.

Protestors have performed the Nazi salute and clashed with transgender rights activists as UK anti-trans activist Kellie-Jay Keen visited Melbourne.

About 30 people from far-right group National Socialist Movement marched along Spring Street near the Victorian Parliament on Saturday afternoon.

Disturbing footage showed masked protestors holding signs calling transgender people offensive names and performing Nazi salutes.

Numerous photographs and videos embedded in article

'Posie Parker is actively trying to build links between these far-right forces and broader anti-trans activists around the world.

Ms Keen, a self-described transphobe, had turned up to Melbourne after spending the past week visiting Sydney, Brisbane and Adelaide on her 'Let Women Speak' tour.

Controversial former Liberal candidate Katherine Deves was among the guest speakers as the protest spiralled into chaos.

Officers arrested at least two people, discharged pepper spray, and dragged away protestors by the arms.

One video showed a transgender rights activist rush onto the steps of Parliament House and snatch the microphone from a guest speaker, interrupting their speech.

Far-right group European Australia Movement founder Thomas Sewell was also spotted among the crowd.

Kellie-Jay Keen event attracts supporters making Nazi salutes

There have been violent scenes in front of the Victorian Parliament as police clashed with people protesting against anti-transgender speaker Kellie-Jay Keen, while a neo-nazi group appeared alongside the 'Let Women Speak' event.

Said: Liberal MP Moira Deeming, who recently voiced her opposition to transgender people during her inaugural speech to the Victorian parliament, spoke at the event.

Also relevantly said:

At each event her supporters have been outnumbered by protesters and their chants have often been drowned out her followers' speeches. As she's travelled the country protesters have chanted "Posie Parker you can't hide, you've got nazis on your side."

A recent report in the UK linked Keen to the growing tide of anti-transgender sentiment and highlighted her links to far-right political groups. At one of her recent events in the United Kingdom one of the speaker's began quoting Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf.

The annual 'State of Hate' report from Hope Against Hate noted far right extremism is growing in the United Kingdom, and the report highlighted the role the campaigns of Kellie-Jay Keen were playing.

The report says Keen is "a leading voice in the anti-trans movement in the UK and has been praised by the far right. She has increasingly found support from and an overlap in views with the far right, which has also increasingly focused on trans people."

Today around 30 members of the far-right group Nationalist Socialist Movement marched down Spring Street in support of Keen, they shouted slurs at members of the LGBTIQ+ communities and their supporters, while unfurling a sign that read 'Destroy Paedo Freaks'.

		Federal Labor MP Josh Burns has commented on the appearance of the neo-Nazi group saying there needed to be a discussion about whether tougher laws are needed. “The ugly alliance between anti-trans bullies and neo-Nazis on display in the city today was extremely confronting. “Both groups seek to bully and blame minority groups in their dark ideology. Scapegoating minorities is their business model, and it has no place in Australia. “The brazen marching with neo-Nazi salutes in front of the Victorian Parliament is unacceptable. This is a time for us to consider whether tougher laws are needed.” Burns said.

Neo-Nazi salutes at protest could prompt changes to anti-vilification laws

Simone Fox Koob and Roy Ward

March 19, 2023 – 11:40am

Neo-Nazis, led by Thomas Sewell, marched on Spring Street on Saturday. CHRIS HOPKINS

About 30 people from neo-Nazi group the National Socialist Network, dressed in black and most with their faces covered, attended the protests on Spring Street supporting Keen-Minshull, repeatedly performing the salute and holding up a sign using offensive anti-trans language.

On Saturday night, a state government spokeswoman described the behaviour from the neo-Nazi group as a cowardly act of hatred and intimidation. "Not only have Victorians made it clear they have zero tolerance for these disgraceful beliefs, we've made it clear in law with the ban of the Nazi hate symbol," she said.

Also relevantly said:

Southwick said he did not share Deeming's views on transgender women, and said the party would speak with the upper house MP. "I had some initial discussions with Moira and I will have more," he said.

"I'm told many of those at the protests also felt unsafe from these neo-Nazis. There is one thing to protest, but it is another thing to incite hate.

The opposition said the display from the neo-Nazi group amounted to a deliberate attempt to incite hatred and violence.

Liberal MP Moira Deeming attended the anti-trans protest on Saturday. JASON SOUTH

"These shameful individuals and the hateful ideology they push have no place in our state and must never be tolerated," said Liberal MPs David Southwick and Brad Battin in a joint statement. "Victoria is better than this."

Southwick, whose seat of Caulfield includes Victoria's largest Jewish population, said on Sunday he had people calling him in tears about the vision they saw of the protest.

"We have the largest population of Holocaust survivors here in Caulfield and the last thing they want to be confronted with is Nazis saluting and goose-stepping outside parliament," he said.

"The Liberal-Nationals will stand side by side with the government to ensure that police have the powers they need to make sure they don't behave in this way."

Liberal MP Moira Deeming attended the anti-trans rights event and tweeted on Saturday of her disappointment with police for allowing the neo-Nazis to enter the protected area where Keen-Minshull was speaking.

‘Not welcome’: Dan Andrews slams neo-Nazi protesters after violent Melbourne clash

Demonstrators were seen raising their arms in a Nazi salute as hundreds of people clashed over an anti-trans activist on Saturday.

Victorian Premier Daniel Andrew has slammed protesters who performed the Nazi salute during an anti-transgender rally that quickly turned violent, telling them Nazis are “not welcome” in the state.

Large crowds of protesters from two competing rallies clashed in the streets of Melbourne over LGBTQI+ issues as an anti-transgender activist, Kellie-Jay Keen-Minshull, continues her speaking tour of Australia on Saturday.

The ugly display has already sparked calls for tougher laws to crack down on white supremacists from one Victorian MP, who said the display on parliament’s steps was “unacceptable”.

Ms Keen-Minshull, who goes by the moniker Posie Parker, is a British woman who founded group Standing for Women.

She describes herself as a women’s rights activist, but she is mostly known for her anti-transgender opinions.

It is not suggested she had any link with Saturday’s violence.

But her controversial views are believed to have sparked the tense clash between anti-trans and pro-trans activists in front of Victoria’s Parliament House.

Masked men gave Nazi salutes in Melbourne’s CBD when they crashed the demonstration between pro-transgender and anti-transgender activists.

Their stunt has sparked outrage in the community, including a fiery rebuke from Mr Andrews on Sunday.

He condemned the protesters and said they’re attempt to “spread hate” was not welcome

“I wish it didn’t have to be said, but clearly it does: Nazis aren’t welcome,” Mr Andrews wrote on Twitter.

“Not on Parliament’s steps. Not anywhere.

“They were there to say the trans community don’t deserve rights, safety or dignity.

“That’s what Nazis do. Their evil ideology is to scapegoat minorities – and it’s got no place here.

“And those who stand with them don’t, either.”

Mr Andrews said his government will “always support” trans people in Victoria.

“And we’ll always respect you,” he said.

“Because your rights are not negotiable.”
